Wireless Acquisition Announces Use of Conifer[®] Brand Name

Scottsdale, AZ January 14, 2004. Wireless Acquisitions, L.L.C. announces today that it has begun doing business as Conifer Wireless. Conifer Wireless adopted this identity to take advantage of the highly recognized Conifer name in the wireless broadband and video products marketplace and to better portray its mission of being the premier supplier and integrator of traditional wireless broadband, video and voice over IP (VOIP) base stations and customer premise equipment (CPE).

In October, 2003 Conifer Wireless purchased the assets of EMCEE Broadcast Products and Andrew Wireless Broadband including their Conifer division. The Company has been providing support to existing Conifer and EMCEE customers through its offices in Mountaintop, Pennsylvania and Scottsdale, Arizona. The Company has also started manufacturing Conifer and EMCEE products as well as several new, innovative items.

Jim Yard, CEO of Conifer Wireless says, "We are able, using our own products along with our relationships with other vendors, to build a wireless broadband, video and VOIP system anywhere in the world. We have purchased the assets of several strategic entities and hired their former employees. These acquisitions, along with our VAR and distribution relationships, allow us to offer the complete package. We have the capability to design, manufacture, integrate, build and maintain a wireless broadband, video and VOIP system according to the customer's specifications."
